MONONGAHELA BAPTISTS IN SESSION HERE

Twenty-Nine Delegates Registered at Noon at First Baptist Church.

SUCCESS IS DISCUSSED

Pittsburg Minister Outlines Five-Basic Zinc for Government of Denomination If Its Undertakings Are to Be Blessed With Fruits of Victory.

With Rev. Dr. J. S. Bromley, pastor of Great Bethel Baptist church of Uniontown, delivering the introductory sermon, the 59th annual session of the Monongahela Baptist Association convened this morning in the First Baptist church. At noon 29 delegates had registered. It was the first session of the association to be held in Connellsville, the local church having been associated with the Pittsburg Baptist association until a year ago.

Rev. R. H. Austin of Smithfield had charge of the devotional service and in the absence of C. B. Franks, Rev. J. S. Stevens, pastor of the Connellsville church, delivered the address of welcome and read a letter from the church showing the closing year to be one of the most successful ones in the history of the church.

Rev. C. A. Decker of Pittsburg gave a splendid talk on "The Background to Success in Our Christian World-Enterprise." He based his talk on five facts as follows: First, we are living in a day when we are making great strides forward. One cannot be a Baptist without feeling proud of what has taken place today. We cannot feel we have done our duty until we have supported our mission program in an adequate way.

Second—We are living in a day of great transition. This is a critical hour in which we are living. We have to meet this critical period. It is the hour when we must suffice. If we do not the enemy will go over the top before us.

Third—We must meet the issue. It is not there is no person that has the power to do it.

Fourth—When people have the facts before them they are likely to respond earnestly and generously. They always respond when they know.

Fifth—We do not have an adequate program in our church for missionary education. An until recently it had been left to the pastor who preached on the subject whenever he cared to. The women have taken up missionary work and have been giving generously.

Rev. Bromley's sermon took up the next period.

Three new pastors, Rev. E. S. Stevens of the local church, Rev. A. A. Blits of Vanderbilts and Rev. Ryan of Dunbar, were welcomed into the association.

The following committees were appointed: Enrollment, Mrs. Ruth Bailey, Mrs. Paul Werber, Mrs. Vera Long, Dr. J. S. Stevens, and preachers, Dr. W. M. Johnson, A. F. Shad, Rev. J. W. Hayes, Blits, Rev. W. A. Wissinger, Dr. A. L. Eddy, Miss John Davis; planning, to the state convention board and representatives in local boards and trustees, Dr. J. S. Stevens, Rev. C. C. Rich and Mrs. G. J. Riley; auditing, Rev. W. H. Ells and A. J. Davis; special cases, Rev. R. B. Dunnigan, Rev. W. H. McElroy, Mrs. Frazer; nominating association board of promotion, Rev. R. J. Esh, Rev. E. S. City Clerk Harry G. Mason today received a letter signed by Miss Ruth Kilpatrick of Portland, Ore., inquiring for the whereabouts of a man she believes is her brother.

The girl states that she and her mother are visiting in Turtlet Creek, Pa., from which place the letter was mailed. She noticed in a paper, she wrote, that a man giving his name as Floyd L. Kilpatrick had been on trial here for embezzlement and larceny.

Her brother's name is Floyd L. Kilpatrick and she believes the two may be the same person. The man disappeared from his home about a year ago, she wrote, and is believed to be in the East. Mr. Mason will give the man directions for reaching the young woman, if he calls at city hall.

NEW EXPLOSIVE

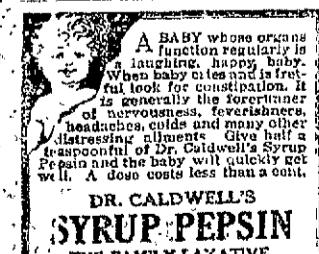

Derived from Liquid Oxygen Being Developed by Bureau of Mines.

The Bureau of Mines is conducting experiments at Pittsburgh with a view to making use of liquid oxygen explosive, practicable in certain mining and quarrying operations. The increasing cost of dynamite and nitro-glycerine explosives at the time the United States entered the world war caused the Bureau of Mines to investigate all possible substitutes.

As eminent physiologists are pronouncing great improvements in liquid oxygen apparatus that can be used for the production of cheap oxygen, says the Bureau, "It is possible that the explosive may become so cheap that it will displace dynamite and other explosives where conditions permit its use."

COMMITTEES AND UNEMPLOYED MEN.

In appealing to the governors of states and the mayors of municipalities to take steps to organize employment agencies to assist in meeting the situation resulting from unemployment of a large number of persons President Harding is applying to this problem the principle he enunciated at the opening of the conference now in session at Washington.

Declaring that funds from public or private funds do not provide a solution but that work is what is needed and what the men most desire, he urges upon communities to take systematic steps to encourage the opening up of a larger number of opportunities for employment. Being in closest touch with the local situations, mayors of the cities, both large and small are in his opinion the logical persons to take the initiative in developing plans.

It is essential says President Harding that the cooperation of all sections of each community should be brought into action to provide work and assistance that we may pass through the coming winter without creating suffering and distress. It is of national importance that every community should at once undertake such organization in order that the nation may be protected as a whole. More over the thorough commitment to such a task is sure to start a thousand activities which will add to our common welfare.

Through community organizations which should embrace employers, prospective builders and citizens generally who are interested in obtaining relief from the unemployment situation it seems entirely reasonable to expect that many opportunities for work could be provided that do not now exist. Undertakings that are being held in abeyance could be started and other measures taken to distribute employment among a larger number of persons.

The end sought by the conference at Washington is to apply a natural instead of make shift solution to the unemployment problem so that the return to normal conditions in industries will be assisted not retarded. The plan proposed has the merit of being entirely practicable. The success of it will be determined by the earnest application to it and the degree of cooperation of those persons and interest in position to give real help in working out the details.

TO HILT THE MINI FIRE.

To those who have been concerned about the dangers and damages that are certain to result from the mine fire on the outskirts of the city, in case its progress is not permanently halted the outcome of the conference between Chief Bitton of the State Department of Mines, the county commissioners and a group of citizens will be cheerful now.

That an energetic and systematic effort is to be made to confine the fire within its present limits there is no question. The fire is well established and is spreading underneath the whole hill top section shows that the very serious nature of the situation has been more fully realized. In the State Department of Mines and the county commissioners coming to the aid of the interested property owners and citizens generally shows that the problem of stopping the fire is of more than local concern. The fact that financial assistance from the state is not at present available will not longer defer their action those directing the undertaking having confidence that a way can be provided to take care of the expense in case the safety of the recovered coal is insufficient.

The task ahead of the committee having the fire-fighting in charge is certain to be no light or easy one. As a rule mine fires are stubborn things to fight especially when there are obstacles in the way of erecting effective barriers to their progress in all directions. Such a condition obtains in the present instance hence very great difficulty may be encountered in carrying out the proposed plan particularly at points where the covering over the coal veins could easily be lost.

However, the job is to be tackled with determination and a good equipment which are the best assurances of its success. As that will assure so much to the community as a whole there should be no hesitancy to provide any reasonable form or measure of assistance if the need should arise as it very probably will before it can safely be said that the menace has been removed.

BANNING OF BIBLE FROM USE IN PUBLIC SCHOOLS COURT ISSUE

Test Case From State of Washington to Come Before Highest Tribunal.

VIOLATES DECLARATION

Of Independence. Presbyterian Leaders Back on Appeal Decree; Makes Impossible Instruction of School Children in "Laws of Nature's God."

By Associated Press
NEW YORK Oct 4—The Supreme Court of the United States will be asked to determine whether the Bible can be legally excluded from the public schools.

This has been announced by leaders of the Presbyterian church here who have headed a movement among various religious denominations to bring a test case before the nation's highest tribunal.

The state of Washington which officially excludes the Bible from its public schools will furnish the basis for the case. The contemplated action had its inception in the Synod of Washington of the Presbyterian church.

The hue of attack will be based on the Declaration of Independence the Presbyterians claiming that the Declaration is a covenant with the American nation and God, and that the study of the Bible in America is essential to an understanding of the covenant and to full knowledge of God.

To exclude the Bible from the public schools, the Presbyterians contend in their presentation prepared to appear to the supreme court is to violate one of the essential clauses of the opening paragraph of the Declaration of Independence.

In the state of Washington the attorney general and later the State Supreme Court have rendered an opinion in which the Bible in effect is judged to be a sectarian book and in which it is decided to be unconstitutional to read or teach the Bible in the state schools.

The Presbyterians declare that this ruling is erroneous and that the state constitutional provisions so constructed are void as being in conflict with and repugnant to the principles of the Declaration of Independence.

This ruling, it is added, is repugnant to and in conflict with the principles in the clause of the Declaration of Independence to assume among the powers of the earth the separate and equal station to which the laws of nature and nature's God entitle them. In that all citizens are equally entitled to instruction in the laws of nature and also to nature's God, which latter are spiritual and obtainable from the Bible. This ruling makes it impossible to obtain such knowledge in the school system of the state although elaborate provisions are made for teaching the laws of nature.

Extensive arguments have been presented in the presentation to show that no state has a right to exclude from its system of education instruction in the science of religion as set forth in the Bible the only book which sets forth the existence, laws and other attributes of the Divine Providence to which the Declaration of Independence is committed without this exclusion being repugnant to the Declaration and therefore void.

The presentation declares that with in a few years after prohibiting the Bible from the Washington public schools, it became necessary to create juvenile courts, jails and correctional institutions and so great was the demand for their use that good people of town and city began to make efforts to supply Bible teachings and moral training to the youth attending state schools and colleges and who knocking at the back doors of their schools to which the law required their children committed for education seeking for the recognition of Bible instruction.

Mount Pleasant Council Will Attempt to Relieve Idle by Borough Program

111 Men Needed to Get Necessary Work Done in Good Weather to Be Hired.

POLICE WILL TAKE CENSUS

Parade of 500 Feet Fire Hose, Is Authorized; Committee Named to Draw Resolutions on Death of Borough Treasurer James S. Hitchman.

Special to The Courier.—MOUNT PLEASANT, Oct. 4.—Steps looking toward relief of unemployment in the borough in some measure were taken up by town council Monday evening when it was voted to authorize the street committee to employ as many men as will be needed to get all borough work done while the weather is favorable. It was suggested that men who are in greatest need be given preference.

Councilman S. C. Stevenson suggested that burgesses S. P. Stevens have the police make a canvas of the town and take a census of the unemployed and the conditions of the unfortunate. It will thus be determined what future aid might be required in the worst cases. The burgesses signified his willingness to have the census taken. A special meeting of council will be called to hear the executive's report.

The work contemplated consists of general repair to streets and sewers, etc.

S. C. Stevenson, N. M. Crusan and Borough Collector Eugene Warden were named a committee to draw up resolutions on the death of Borough Collector James S. Hitchman.

Council decided to buy 500 feet of new fire hose. The contract was let as follows: 250 "double cross" hose, Republic Rubber company, $1.15 per foot; 250 feet of "paragon" hose, Eureka company, $1.30 per foot. Complaints were heard from V. Stell on the condition of Rumpaugh avenue and from James Dooley and George Fesse of the condition of Vine street.

Collector Eugene Warden was instructed to foreclose the borough lien on the Elizabeth Keller property at Church and Smithfield streets. The collector was also instructed to drop the suit at Hospital.

COKER HIGH SCHOOL IS GETTING READY TO MEET PEABODY NEXT SATURDAY

A week of rejuvenation, if such is possible, and it ought to be, is possible, is ahead for the Connellsville high school football team. There are many arguments and discussions why the Coker team was so handily beaten Saturday when playing against Johnstown, but only one thing remains to be done. That is to get down to hard work and by future victories wipe away the stain.

One big trouble, as fans see it, is that the players have almost gotten into the habit of thinking they are "soft picking" for any other high school which happens to come along. Some are scared when they see the schedule arranged and get the idea the team is bound to be beaten. Victories will never come to Connellsville until the team members get more confidence and show a little more backbone than they did Saturday.

There were a number of Orange and black players who fought through the game Saturday with a big show of gameness, but others, it is said, absolutely ducked. Unless every man plays victory is impossible. The line, which should have been strong enough to stop the rushes, seemed paralyzed. Some of the men appeared indifferent about going after opposing runners. Plunges often netted a first down.

Coach Wine is credited with making one good move when he put Plesce in the game, that player hustling up several plays. The boy may get regular place, since Olsinsky's wrenched ankle will keep him out for a time.

Peabody is the next opponent, the team being scheduled for Saturday. The Cokers don't know what Peabody can do but it is a fact that the Pittsburgh high school teams are generally overrated. Nevertheless there are some who doubt if Connellsville even has a chance. The men forget they were able to push the Johnstown team backward for yards during the first quarter of the game Saturday and

Lower Shoe Prices Coming

A Big Drop in Shoe Prices For Fall and Winter, Says Connellsville Shoe Merchant.

The buying public have been holding back from buying their fall and winter needs for various reasons. First, because the weather has been extremely hot. Second, because money has not been coming in as abundantly as before and third because prices are not as low as the public has been led to believe they would be. In other words, you can sum up our present business depression to unsatisfactory weather, industrial conditions and misleading statements regarding what prices would be. These three conditions have forced the public into a buyers' strike, and they are holding out solid. They positively will not buy until some inducement is offered to gratify their desire for lower priced merchandise. This fact places business, whether large or small, in a very unhealthy condition and has forced shoe prices down to a very low level.

Fall and winter footwear prices are going to meet the public's demand. The buyers have won their strike. They have forced us to adopt drastic methods to get business at the beginning of the season. They have forced us to sacrifice our profits in their great campaign for lower prices. We're Heiken and we're indeed good. We have to give in. We have bills to pay. We need money to pay them, and we are going to give the public what they want. You are going to get shoes at remarkably low prices. Tomorrow morning we will open our doors to the public with the biggest price lowering campaign we ever attempted. Former costs and profits will not be considered at all. You will get shoes at what you will consider very low prices. Be on hand early tomorrow morning. Make us prove our statements. Meet us face to face. YANKEES SIGHT FAVORITES
OVER NEW YORK GIANTS
The Yankees are a slight favorite over John McGraw's Giants in the coming world series games which open in New York tomorrow. It is felt that neither team has a good string of pitchers, but that McGraw has the edge in this department if there is any difference.

"Babe" Ruth and the Yankees' other sluggers, however, may offset the pitching disadvantages of the team.

THE BEST PLACE TO SHOP, AFTER ALL.

Connellsville, Pa.

"I know it all," Mr. Gibney cut in, "but there isn't money enough in the world to induce you to exercise that knowledge to your profit." He turned to the master of the Chesapeake. "For one hundred dollars each, McGuffey an' I will sell her for you, sir."

"I'll not take the risk, Mr. Gibney. Captain Scraggs, if you will follow my instructions we'll get some salt on the Chesapeake. Take those lines through the leading blocks to the wind."

The engineer of the Maggie came up on deck and waved his arms wildly. "Lever," he bawled. "I've blown out two tubes. I'll be all I can do to get home without that tow."

"Jump over that Scraggs," quoth McGuffey shortly, and cast his silken engineer's cap on the deck at Scraggs' feet. The latter's face was ashen as he turned to the skipper of the Chesapeake. "I'm through," he gulped. "I'll have to cast off. Your ship's drivin' on the beach now."

"Oh, say, not we, Scraggs," said Mr. Gibney softly, and with a blow of the hammer knocked out the stopper on the whistles and let the anchor go down by the run. "Not this voyage, at least." The Chesapeake rounded with a jerk and Mr. Gibney took Captain Scraggs gently by the arm. "Into the small boat, old man," he whispered. "and I'll row you in. The Squareback back to the X-boat. It's a drifts abore with that load o' garden truck you might as well drown yourself."

Captain Scraggs was beyond words. He suffered himself to be taken back to the Maggie, after which kindly action Mr. Gibney returned to the Chesapeake, climbed aboard, and with the assistance of McGuffey, hauled the vessel back up on the deck.

"Now," Mr. Gibney inquired, approaching the skipper of the Chesapeake, "what'll you give me an' Mac, sir, to sell you in?"

"One thousand dollars," the skipper answered weakly. "You refused to let us do it for a hundred. Now it'll cost you two thousand, an' I'm lettin' you off cheap at that. Of course you can take a chance an' wait until word o' your predicament gets into San Francisco an' a tug comes out for you, but in the meantime, the wind may increase so' with the tide at the flood how do you know rear anchor won't drag an' pile you up on them rocks to leeward?"

"I'll pay two thousand, Mr. Gibney."

Without further ado, Mr. Gibney went to the master's cabin, wrote out in agreement, carried the skipper ashore and got his signature to the contract. Then he tucked the skipper into bed and came dashing on deck.

"Come here, till I introduce you to the Jib halyards," he bawled to McGuffey, and they went forward.

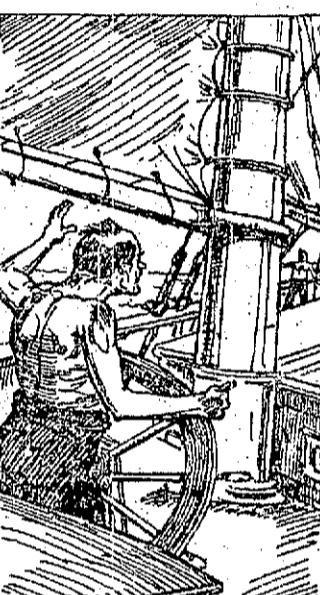

With the aid of the wind, they braced the foreyard; then McGuffey went to the wheel while Mr. Gibney scuttled forward, eased up the compressor on the windlass, and permitted the anchor-chain to pay out rapidly. With the hammer, he knocked out the pin at the forty-five fathom shackle and jaying the anchor to go by the board, for it worried him no longer, the bark Chesapeake moved gently off on a west-sou'west course that would keep her three points off the land. She had sufficient head sail now to hold her up.

Mr. Gibney fell upon the main top-gallant's leads like a demon, carried them through the leading block to the wheel-head, turned over the windlass and hoisted home the main-top-gallant. The Chesapeake gathered speed and Mr. Gibney went aft and stood beside Mr. McGuffey, who, while he looked aloft and thrilled to the whale of the bark-swing until her bows were straightened and sheared up shipshape, although in the meantime the gunnery launch had gone alongside. He investigated, and removed those of the crew who still lived. Shortly thereafter the gunner came and removed the dead, after which Gibney and McGuffey hosed down the deck, located some hard tack and coffee, supped and turned in in the offcabin quarters. In the morning, Seab Johnnies invited Mr. Gibney with their other clothes (Mr. Gibney having thoughtfully sent him ten dollars on account of their old board bill, together with a request for the clothes), and when the agents of the Chesapeake sent a watchman to relieve them, they went ashore and had breakfast. After breakfast, they had cashed their checks. "Seems as how I've become independently wealthy by following your lead," he declared.

He took the wheel from McGuffey. When he was two miles off the beach he brought her up into the wind and made the wheel fast, a spoke to leeward. "Sheet home the fore-to-aft," he bawled and dashed forward. "Leggo them buntines an' heave 'em in, then the fat will be in the fire."

The ship lay in the wind, shivering. Mr. Gibney was here, there, everywhere. One minute he was dawdling along the deck with a leading line, the next he was laying out a stolt. He odered himself to do a thing and then with the pent-up energy of a thousand devils, he did it. The vents of degradation as navigating officer of the Maggie fell away from him, as he sprang aside and half-naked into the shrouds, a great hairy devol or sea-goblin he lay out along the yards and sprung from place to place with the old-old-cut thrill of youth and joy in his voice. A word, a gesture, from Mr. Gibney, and McGuffey would pounce on a rope like a bulldog. With the fore-to-aft set, Mr. Gibney ran back to the wheel and put it hard over. Tiller the wheel, no other sail set the bark swinging steadily on to her course. Slipping through the water at a nice eight-knot speed, 'tis miles off the coast, Mr. Gibney hung out in the wind again, braced his yards with the aid of the wind, and McGuffey came about and headed north. At three o'clock she cleared the lightship and wore around to come in over the bar, steering east by south, half-south, for Point Bonita. She drew the full advantage of "the bow" now, and over the bar she came, running full through the gate with her yards squared, on the last of the

Harda-Starboard! Make Her Fast, Bart."

Hoists now and is devolved upon Mr. Gibney to bring his price in on the quarantine grounds and let go his port anchor. Fortunately, the anchor was already cock-billed. Mr. Gibney sprang to the fore-to-aft halyards and let them go and the fore-to-aft came down by the run.

"Harda-starboard! Make her fast, Bart, an' come up here an' help me with the anchor. Let go the ruse-top-sail halyards as you come by an' stand by the compressor on the windlass."

The Chesapeake swung slowly, broadside to the first of the ebb and with the wind on her port beam. Mr. Gibney knocked out the stopper with his trusty hammer and away went the rusty chain, slugging through the hawssepipe. "Snub her gently, Bart," he said, "and give her the thly-fathom shackle to the water's edge," he warned McGuffey.

The bark-swing until her bows were straightened and sheared up shipshape, although in the meantime the gunnery launch had gone alongside. He investigated, and removed those of the crew who still lived. After breakfast, they had cashed their checks. "Seems as how I've become independently wealthy by following your lead," he declared.

"On Board the Maggie, Saturday night, Dear Friends:

I am sorry, You hurt me awful with your children when you took the Chesapeake away from me. To er is human but to forgive is divine. After what I done I don't expect you two to come back to work ever, but for God's sake don't give me the dead face when we meet again. Remember we been shipmates once."

"P. P. Scraggs."

"Why, the poor old son of a horse tiler," Mr. Gibney mumbled, much moved at this profound abasement.

"Of course we forgive him. It ain't manly to hold a grudge after the culprit has paid his full price for his sin. By and large, I got a hunch, Bart, that old Scraggs' has his lesson for once."

"If you can forgive him, I can, Gib."

"Well, he's certainly cleaned himself," he said, "and McGuffey to his perspiring bosom. The deed was done."

It was dark, however, before they had all the salts snugged up shipshape, although in the meantime the gunnery launch had gone alongside. He investigated, and removed those of the crew who still lived. Shortly thereafter the gunner came and removed the dead, after which Gibney and McGuffey hosed down the deck, located some hard tack and coffee, supped and turned in in the offcabin quarters. ## LABOR FEDERATION STARTS BIG DRIVE FOR NEW MEMBERS

Combing the Country to Add
1,000,000 Names to Its Rolls.

WANT OFFICE WORKERS

WASHINGTON, Oct. 4.—Enlistment of 1,000,000 new members in international labor unions in the hills, is a campaign now being waged throughout the United States by the American Federation of Labor.

The federation at the Denver convention received a report that it then had 11,000,000 members. The report showed a loss compared with the previous year. The aim of the present campaign is to boost membership 25 per cent.

Several hundred organizers, in the pay of the federation, are at work. The remainder are employed by local and international bodies.

Plans to organize the steel industry and affiliated lines, total part of the general campaign. Organization of the steel workers is in the hands of a special committee.

Enlistment of "white collar" workers also is being emphasized. This is the term applied to men and women at work in offices as clerks, stenographers, messengers and the like.

The theory is that unions of these workers would strengthen the arm of shop workers in conflict with their employers, because the tying up of plants could thus be made more complete during strikes. The nucleus of a white collar union already is in existence in the stenographers' organization, formed some years ago.

Nearly 20,000 men and women nominally are employed as stenographers, clerks and copyists and bookkeepers.

Only a limited number now belong to unions, but their interests are parallel to those of the trades workers, union leaders declare. Salaries might be increased and working conditions materially bettered through membership, it is being urged.

An increase in membership by women workers is much desired by federation chiefs. A large number of women now are affiliated with the trades union movement, but in comparatively small proportion to the number engaged in industry.

A centralized organization of women affiliated with unions now exists and is working with the federation.

Makes a Family Supply of Cough Remedy

Really better than ready-made cough syrup, and saves labour.

Readily and quickly prepared.

If you combined the curative properties of every known "ready-made" cough remedy, you probably could not get a more simple, more effective cough syrup, which is easily prepared in a few minutes.

Get from any druggist 2½ ounces of Pine and Syrup preparation, a pint at the jangle of a cough and give almost immediate relief. It loosens the phlegm, stops the most throat tickle and heals the sore, irritated membranes.

It is easily prepared, that is, easily astonishing.

A day's use will usually overcome the ordinary cough, or bronchitis, croup, hoarseness and bronchial asthma.

Pine is a most valuable concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract, and has been used for generations to relieve gripes.

To save disappointment, ask your druggist for "2½ ounces of Pine" with full directions, and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give instant satisfaction or money promptly refunded. The Pine Co., P. O. Wayne, Ind.

Monday and Tuesday are Dress Days and

Every Fall Dress is Reduced in Price

AFTER all we succeed only as we serve. And the best way to serve you this year is to obtain the quality merchandise you have learned to expect from us—and to price that merchandise just as low as is consistent with the quality and style that's in it.

Therefore—this announcement that Monday and Tuesday have been designated "Dress Days" on which many new Fall dresses in stock are placed in one or the other of these three lots.

At $12.75

All the new one piece and two piece dresses—including the Bramley dresses that are enjoying such a vogue this Fall. Sizes 16 to 44. Color, navy blue. Plain tailored styles or those brightened with contrasting embroideries.

At $22.75

Dresses in wool jersey, crepe de chine, canton crepe, tricotine and satin. Plain tailored or embroidered and sleeved with all the vagaries that Paris has decreed for Fall. Colors tan, reindeer, peacock, brown, taupe, navy and black. Sizes 16 to 44.

At $32.75

All the finer, more desirable costumes you've seen on the second floor—in canton crepe, crepe satin and fine tricotine. Colors, tan, reindeer, peacock, brown, taupe, navy and black. Sizes 16 to 44. Trimmed in contrasting materials and embroidered in the wooden beads and Chinese trappings that have struck so definite a style not for the season.

Perish the thought that any of us must sacrifice this season any of the things that it is the lot of woman to desire.

"Suit Days" and "Coat Days" have already done their bit to lighten many a woman's cares—let "Dress Days" do their part in lightening yours.

Only an unusual Silk Sale would feature

Krepe Knit at $3.50 per yard

KREPE KNIT is the season's latest fabric—as far as is known there was never anything like it before.

It resembles a jersey silk with a crepe face—a material to fall from your shoulders in the crinkly waves that fashion sponsors for the season.

We have seen it advertised in other cities at $3.85 and $4.00 but in our Annual Sale of Silks your desire for this new and beautiful fabric can be gratified for $3.50 per yard—which may give you some inkling of the importance of this event. Other unusual values are:

Satin Charmeuse, featured in navy and black, a $2.50 value, at $1.95.
40 in. Radium Taffeta, in a deep soothng black, a $3 value reduced to $2.67.
36 in. Black Velvet—the heritage of kings—a $3.50 value featured at $2.74.

Kyanize Paints Are Reduced 10%

PERHAPS, after all, that bedroom floor does deserve a new coat of varnish. And how much happier the room would seem if the bed itself could be re-enamelled. Or is it the parlor that needs attention—say a coat of varnish for the floor and to brighten up the wood work.

Now's the time—while the Housefurnishings Sale is still in progress to get that painting done—and Kyanize should do it.

Kyanize is to be found in a finish suitable for any demand. Floor Finish for interiors and wood work. White Enamel for parlors, bedrooms and beds. Washable Celoid Finish for walls and woodwork. All reduced 10% in price.

And if it isn't satisfactory your money will be immediately and cheerfully refunded.
